

MEDICAID:

What It Brings to Washington

Improved Access to Health Care

Medicaid provided health care coverage to 1,788,536 adults and children in Washington, an increase of 670,960 since 2013.

Medicaid enables people to get needed health care, just like private insurance.

Losing Medicaid would make it hard for people to get health care, and increase their risk of medical debt if they were to get sick.

Federal Dollars and Jobs

The federal government provided $7 billion or 62% of the funding for people covered by Medicaid in Washington.

Reduced Medicaid funding would mean that hospitals would have to absorb a lot of the cost of care for uninsured people.

Opioid Treatment

Cuts to Medicaid would jeopardize access to the drug naloxone, a life-saving medication that can reverse the effect of opioid overdose.

122 lives at risk

An estimated 122 lives were saved in Washington from opioid overdose due to Medicaid-covered naloxone in 2016.
